Please leave satellite radio alone. I pay extra money not to have to waste my time sitting and waiting for what I need to hear. XM just added another instant service, that just like cell phones reaches more people and covers a larger area than just radio. Please allow them to continue giving quality and innovative programming that meets their listening audience needs. It is time to get our heads out of the sand and see the whole picture, this is a premium service providing a premium return, in other words we are getting our money's worth! If I want a larger calling area on my phone I can get it, if I want a nationwide towing coverage I can get it why should radio be any different? In this day and age why would we want to be limiting anyone's freedom? If I want traffic and weather about an area that is two states away why should I be limited just because I can't get the am/fm signals from that area?
